

NOVEMBER

Robert Frost's poem "November"

We saw leaves go to glory,
Then almost migratory
Go part way down the lane,
And then to end the story Get beaten down and pasted
In one wild day of rain.

We heard " 'Tis Over" roaring.
A year of leaves was wasted.
Oh, we made a boast of storing,
Of saving and keeping,
But only by ignoring The waste of moments sleeping,
The waste of pleasure
weeping,
By denying and ignoring The waste of nations warring.

Robert Frost's poem "The Road Not

TWO roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;
Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there Had worn them really about the same,

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!

Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.
I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

Meaning of names

For centuries it has been considered that every name has strong magic, and that giving it to a child makes him or her equipped with certain features and future. Therefore, while choosing a name for a child, parents should show caution and opt for the one that not only sounds nice and is accordingly appropriate but also carries a specific meaning - especially that it should be with them all their life. The change of it is much more complicated and time consuming and may be very embarrassing.
