

Through the stomach to the heart ...

As the saying goes, the way to a man's heart is through his stomach and the way to a woman's heart is through her ears! And believe it or not it is very true ;) Every woman has her own way to the heart of her man. It may be an ironed shirt for him before going to work, or a pint of beer served during the match on TV, and last but not least, his favourite dinner on the table.

A woman on the other hand loves being admired, so words expressing her endless beauty and charm together with a bunch of flowers and a piece of jewellery will certainly do. So gentlemen, don't waste your time and get ready for such action!

When you prepare a romantic dinner, you cannot forget to select the right wine. But which one is appropriate? The answer to this question is not so simple.

Depending on your taste, you can choose the white, pink or red wine. If you plan to spend the evening at romantic dinner by candlelight, in the warmth of home it is good to drink semisweet red wine. Women of a more sensitive nature will appreciate the subtle flavour of rose wine with a slight aroma of raspberries, blackberries and cherries.

If, however, you prepare salad or a grilled dish for dinner, the ideal composition is delicate dry wine. Rose wine from red grapes, berries and dried herbs, in turn, will fit the fish.

IN SNEAKERS AROUND THE WORLD

Taj Mahal in Agra is located in the western part of the Ganges Plain. It is the most famous building in India. The building has a bulbous shape, with turrets on the wings, the central dome has a diameter of 17.7 meters and it is 24.5 meters high.

Taj Mahal was built by Shah Jehan, an Indian emperor of the Mughal dynasty,

He built it in memory of his beloved wife Arjumand Banu Baygam, known as Mumtaz Mahal, which means the pearl of the palace.

The wonder of the world

Mumtaz Mahal,

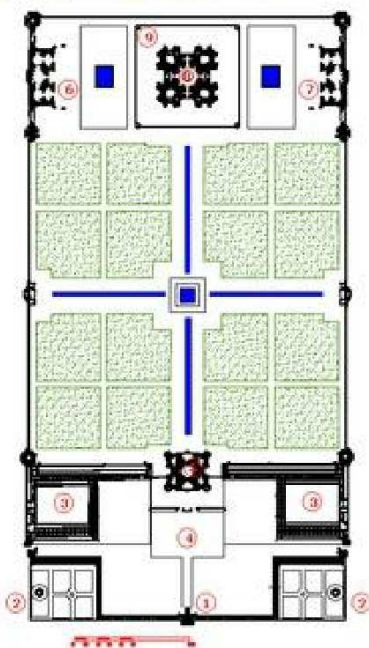

died soon after the birth of her fourteenth child. Shah Jehan announced a two year national mourning. He forbade the celebration, listening to music, using perfumes, and wearing jewellery.

Work on building

The implementation of such a large project in just twenty years was an impressive achievement. It was so due to the fact that Shah Jehan used all resources available within his empire. He employed about 20,000 workers. The materials were transported by over 1000 elephants.

from distant marble quarries (320 km away).

An English traveller, Peter Mundy, who visited the mausoleum shortly after the work had started, was amazed at the wealth of the material, "gold and silver were together with marble treated as common."

Flying phones - strange but true ...

New Zealand Massey University students in Palmerston North broke the Guinness world record by throwing their Nokia N5 at a distance of 120.65 m.

Throwing cells at a distance competition is gaining more and more fans around the world. People who are apparently bored with javelin throwing look for thrills in electronics departments. No wonder that after the frenzy for throwing a computer keyboard, it is time for mobile phones.
